

RedRover Readers Workshop

Have you ever seen a child's eyes light up when they start talking about animals? Animals spark imagination and curiosity for learners. Stories about animals make a great foundation for conversations of all kinds, but particularly conversations around emotions, responsible decision-making, and perspective-taking.

The Monadnock Humane Society and RedRover are partnering to Offer a Free Training Workshop:

How to Use Stories about Animals to Help Children Practice Social & Emotional Skills

For: Teachers, Parents and MHS Volunteers

Saturday, April 1, 2023

9:00 am - 3:00 pm

Coffee and Snacks Provided. Bring Your Own Lunch.

Sign up at: monadnockhumanesociety.org/redrover-readers-workshop/

Objective: The focus of this training is to help educators and volunteers learn to implement the RedRover Readers Program curriculum in classrooms, libraries or homes to build empathy, self- and social-awareness and help children, ages 5-11, connect to the world and the animals in it. Each lesson seeks to increase an understanding of animals, to clarify what our responsibilities are towards animals in society, and to promote empathy and respect.

Share this flier with others who may want to join you!

Learn more about RedRover and the RedRover Readers program at RedRover.org/Readers.

For questions about the training, or to receive a workshop outline, contact the facilitator, Nicole Forsyth, President and CEO of RedRover at nforsyth@redrover.org.

